

The Society of Qualified Archivists

Code of Ethics

Members are to strive to ensure the physical and moral protection of archives.

Members are not to undertake original historical research into their own collections, in conformity with Jenkinsonian principles.

Members are not to discourage any potential user from using archival material except in so far as required or stipulated by local deposit or legal arrangements.

Members should not bring other members into disrepute.